

Subject Code	ENGL4001
Subject Title	English for Management
Credit Value	3
Level	4
Pre-requisite / Co-requisite / Exclusion	None
Objectives	This subject is designed to further develop students' English language proficiency skills. Students taking this subject should already have completed the subjects English for Effective Communication, English for Academic Communication, English for Advanced Academic Writing, and English for Professional Communication, and will have a very high proficiency level in listening, speaking, reading and writing. The subject primarily focuses on the English communication skills required to handle the kinds of discourse encountered at the managerial level in organisations (including the discourses involved in more complex logistic processes). In other words, students will acquire the linguistic competence needed to evaluate and master the complexities encountered in higher level professional contexts resulting from, for example, differing corporate cultures and increased levels of ambiguity. This subject sets out to enable students to develop the English language skills required to function effectively in an autonomous (as opposed to a guided) context.
Intended Learning Outcomes	Upon completion of the subject, students will be able to: - control and manage the language of the recruitment process; - employ a range of technologies to communicate effectively and creatively in a managerial role; - apply their creative capacities to “think outside the box” and generate “new solutions to old problems”; - demonstrate effective negotiation skills in achieving a win-win situation in different negotiating scenarios in the workplace; - capitalise on their leadership and entrepreneurial skills; - make use of leadership, public speaking, and discussion skills when chairing; - demonstrate leadership and entrepreneurial qualities through

	The main purpose of the assessed tasks is to measure students' understanding of the course and their ability to apply what they have learned to analyse and produce spoken and written texts in a managerial context. The negative announcement (15%) requires students to demonstrate advanced rhetorical skills in a complex genre of managerial communication involving multiple audiences. The business presentation (20%) is to provide students the opportunity to practice speaking English in a business communication situation, such as a venture capital pitch, a market analysis, or a business solution to a grand challenge, etc. The interview simulation (15%) will provide students with the opportunity to role-play various positions in the interview process. The in-class essay (40%) is to check students' understanding of key concepts in managerial writing and their ability to analyse, produce, and revise written texts in a managerial context. Class participation (10%) includes in-class activities such as negotiation, interviews, and presentations throughout the semester.
Student Study Effort Expected	Class contact:
	▪ Seminars	39 Hrs.
	Other student study effort:
	▪ Private study	58 Hrs.
	▪ Take-home assignments	29 Hrs.
	Total student study effort	126 Hrs.

Reading List and References	Angell, P. (2007). Business communication design: Creativity, strategies, and solutions (2nd ed.). McGraw-Hill. Bhatia, V. J. (1993). Analysing genre: Language use in professional settings. Longman. Bilbow, G. T. (2015). Business writing for Hong Kong (4th ed.). Pearson. Bovee, C. L., & Thill, J. V. (2020). Business communication today. Pearson. Chan, C. S. C. (2019). Long-term workplace communication needs of business professionals: Stories from Hong Kong senior executives and their implications for ESP and higher education. English for Specific Purposes, 56, 68-83. Guffey, M. E., & Loewy, D. (2018). Essentials of business communication (11th ed.). Cengage Locker, K.O., Mackiewicz, J., Aune, J. E., & Kienzler, D. S. (2022). Business communication (13th ed.). McGraw-Hill. Mascull, B. (2018). Business vocabulary in use: Advanced (3rd ed.). Cambridge University Press. Robbins, S. P., Coulter, M., A., & De Cenzo, D. A. (2019). Fundamentals of Management (11th ed.). Pearson. Authentic materials produced by the Department of English and Communication.
--	---

Revised by Tobias Lee, May 2026