

Subject Description Form

Subject Code	ITC6977RT
Subject Title	Guided Study in Fashion Supply Chain Empirical Research
Credit Value	3
Level	6
Pre-requisite / Co-requisite / Exclusion	Nil
Objectives	The objective of this subject is to prepare students to conduct scholarly fashion supply chain related research. The subject introduces the research methodologies that are commonly used in fashion supply chain empirical research, and discusses contemporary supply chain research areas.
Intended Learning Outcomes	Upon completion of the subject, students will be able to: - Identify contemporary fashion supply chain research areas - Identify research gaps in the fashion supply chain literature - Formulate theoretically grounded research questions related to fashion supply chain management - Demonstrate knowledge on the fashion supply chain literature - Design appropriate research approaches for fashion supply chain research - Suggest future research directions in fashion supply chain management
Subject Synopsis/ Indicative Syllabus	Fashion supply chain management concepts Empirical research methodologies Theoretical development of fashion supply chain management Contemporary research topics
Teaching/Learning Methodology	This subject will be taught in seminar formats. Reading materials drawn from the supply chain management related literature will form the basis as teaching materials of this study.
