

Subject Description Form

Subject Code	SFT5101
Subject Title	Green Branding and Marketing of Lifestyle Products
Credit Value	3
Level	5
Pre-requisite/ Co-requisite/ Exclusion	Nil
Objectives	The goal of this subject is to educate and train (potential) fashion industry leaders who can: 1) design and develop strong green brands and branding strategies for lifestyle products , 2) leverage effective marketing and communication programmes to sell their green brand message and green lifestyle effectively, and thus 3) serve as impact leaders in creating a greener fashion industry
Intended Learning Outcomes	Upon completion of the subject, students will be able to: a. Understand the concepts and theories associated with green brands and branding b. Build green brand equity and evaluate its outcomes c. Demonstrate strategic green brand management skills d. Demonstrate critical thinking and analytic skills to design green marketing, green lifestyle communication campaigns e. Develop and implement innovative marketing and communication approaches that can appeal to distinct stakeholders of green brands
Subject Synopsis/ Indicative Syllabus	1. Introduction: the holistic view of the subject (a) What is a green brand (b) What are the principles of green branding and green brand equity (c) What is the strategic green brand management process (d) What are green lifestyle products and services (e) How to design green marketing communications 2. Understanding green brand equity (a) Define a green brand and customer-based, green brand equity (b) Describe the principle theories associated with sustainability and/or circular economy (a) Outline the sources and outcomes of green brand equity (b) Learn the drivers of green brand equity (a) Identify the components of, and describe the guidelines in developing, a green brand positioning 3. Building green brands and sustainable branding (a) Define brand resonance (b) Describe the steps in building green brand resonance (c) Define and identify the stages in the brand value chain 4. Choosing brand elements to build green brand equity (a) Identify the different types of brand elements

	(b) Explain the criteria for choosing brand elements (c) Learn the case studies for benchmarking how different brand elements were (mix) used for building green brand equity 5. Designing marketing and communication programmes to build green brand equity (a) Identify the new perspectives and developments in marketing (b) Describe the changes in the new media environment (c) Outline the major marketing communication options: Offline and online marketing and communication options (d) Describe the ways in which marketers can enhance green brand experience 6. Measuring outcomes of green brand equity and managing green brands over time (a) Learn different comparative methods to assess green brand equity (b) Understand the long-term effects of marketing actions on green brand equity 7. Understanding the stakeholders of green brands (a) Identify the key stakeholders related to green brands (b) grouping them according to their levels of participation, interest, and influence in the topic (c) Determine how best to involve and communicate each of the stakeholder groups
Teaching/Learning Methodology	Lectures/Seminars will be used to deliver the fundamental concepts and theories; current branding and marketing trends in terms of green brands Case Studies will be employed to further explore, enhance, and deepen the learning process and knowledge gained. Guest Speakers from the industry will be invited to share and update the current branding and marketing trends in terms of green brands, sustainability, and/or circular fashion.
Assessment Methods in Alignment with Intended Learning Outcomes	<table><tr><th rowspan="2">Specific assessment methods/tasks</th><th rowspan="2">% weighting</th><th colspan="6">Intended subject learning outcomes to be assessed (Please tick as appropriate)</th></tr><tr><th>a</th><th>b</th><th>c</th><th>d</th><th>e</th><th></th></tr><tr><td>1. Group project</td><td>40%</td><td>✓</td><td></td><td>✓</td><td>✓</td><td>✓</td><td></td></tr><tr><td>2. Individual assignment/presentation</td><td>30%</td><td>✓</td><td></td><td>✓</td><td>✓</td><td>✓</td><td></td></tr><tr><td>3. Participation in class discussion</td><td>30%</td><td></td><td>✓</td><td>✓</td><td></td><td>✓</td><td></td></tr><tr><td>Total</td><td>100 %</td><td colspan="6"></td></tr></table> Explanation of the appropriateness of the assessment methods in assessing the intended learning outcomes: Group project (40%):	Specific assessment methods/tasks	% weighting	Intended subject learning outcomes to be assessed (Please tick as appropriate)						a	b	c	d	e		1. Group project	40%	✓		✓	✓	✓		2. Individual assignment/presentation	30%	✓		✓	✓	✓		3. Participation in class discussion	30%		✓	✓		✓		Total	100 %
Specific assessment methods/tasks	% weighting			Intended subject learning outcomes to be assessed (Please tick as appropriate)
		a	b	c	d	e
1. Group project	40%	✓		✓	✓	✓
2. Individual assignment/presentation	30%	✓		✓	✓	✓
3. Participation in class discussion	30%		✓	✓		✓
Total	100 %

	Students shall work in group to employ their critical thinking and analytic ability to develop a business plan for green branding and marketing strategies of their choice of a fashion brand of selected lifestyle products (or services). They need to state clearly (a) which brand elements they chose for building green brand equity, (b) how they designed their marketing and communication programmes accordingly, and (c) how they would measure the green brand equity and manage their brand over time Individual assignments/presentations (30%): Each student shall analyze and present each of successful vs. unsuccessful green branding and/or marketing case, so that the student can develop analytical and critical thinking as well as improve research and writing skills. Participation in class discussions (30%): Class discussions will facilitate students' knowledge and conceptual gain through peer-to-peer dialogue.
Student Study Effort Expected	Class contact:
	▪ Lectures/seminars	26 Hrs.
	▪ In-class discussions	13 Hrs.
	Other student study effort:
	▪ Individual and group assignments	40 Hrs.
	▪ Self-reading and writing	30 Hrs.
	Total student study effort	109 Hrs.
Reading List and References	Books Keller, K. L. (2013). Strategic brand management: Building, measuring, and managing brand equity. 4th Edition, Pearson, England. Ottman, J. (2017). The new rules of green marketing: Strategies, tools, and inspiration for sustainable branding. Routledge. Kim, H. S., & Hall, M. L. (2015). Green brand strategies in the fashion industry: leveraging connections of the consumer, brand, and environmental sustainability. In Sustainable fashion supply chain management (pp. 31-45). Springer, Cham. Niinimäki, K. (2017). Fashion in a circular economy. In Sustainability in Fashion (pp. 151-169). Palgrave Macmillan, Cham. Florenthal, B., & Arling, P. (2011). Do green lifestyle consumers appreciate low involvement green products?. Marketing Management Journal, 21(2), 35. Genoveva, G., & Syahrivar, J. (2020). Green lifestyle among Indonesian millennials: a comparative study between Asia and Europe. Journal of Environmental Accounting and Management, 8(4), 397-413. Articles Ng, P. F., Butt, M. M., Khong, K. W., & Ong, F. S. (2014). Antecedents of green brand equity: an integrated approach. Journal of Business Ethics, 121(2), 203-215. Chen, Y. S. (2010). The drivers of green brand equity: Green brand image, green satisfaction, and green trust. Journal of Business ethics, 93(2), 307-319.	